Auntie Karana—In Loving Memory of Daisy, and What Our Pets Can Teach Us

My friend found out that her 11-year-old Labrador mix had been diagnosed with an oral melanoma. She had taken the dog to their vet to ask about the dog's bad breath and they discovered a mushroom-shaped tumor on the back of the dog's tongue. The tissue was removed and sent for diagnosis. There was a chance that it would be non-invasive, so we hoped for the best since the dog was just as playful and loving as ever. Unfortunately, the news was the opposite. Daisy had an aggressive tumor that would give her limited time on this earth plain.

My friend knew a pet communicator and phoned her right away. She wanted to understand what Daisy had to "say" about her condition. What she discovered was that the dog was not overly concerned about her condition, although it was painful to eat with the surgery and stitches. The pet communicator picked up that Daisy had an internally progressive disease that was impinging on her digestive tract. At the same time, Daisy still had an upbeat affect and was not showing signs of pain or discomfort. My friend was devastated, sad, and left wondering how to help Daisy during this time. She needed assistance with her beloved Daisy's eventual transition. Her local minister came to the house and gave a pet blessing. In this session, my friend thanked Daisy for her service of protection and companionship. She also told Daisy that she released her and that it was ok to go on to her next adventure.

The next best course of action was to continue doing the things that Daisy loved to do. The three of us hiked in the forest behind my friend's house as much as possible. If she got tired, her other "person," Tom, came to fetch her back to rest, while my friend and I continued our hike. When we returned, she was overjoyed once again to see us. When it became clear that Daisy's condition was advancing, other friends and neighbors came to visit and say goodbye. She got to do all the activities that she loved.

Daisy gave my friend the gift of her life and in her illness reminded us about the magic in living moment to moment. We are all here for a certain amount of time and what we do with that time is our choosing.

I felt honored to know this animal. She was our morning hiking companion in the forest. Always there to protect and play!

"Esoteric healers, members, and beloved advocates of the National Association for Esoteric Healing, we are thrilled to take one more step towards global unity and collaboration.

We are excited to introduce you to the culmination of dedicated efforts from around the world: the brand-new global website for the International Network for Energy Healing...
ineh-global.org

Picture a digital gateway that transcends borders, languages, and cultures, inviting every corner of the world to participate in spreading the word on training in Esoteric Healing in their own unique way. This website offers opportunities for international connections, information exchange, and collective action. We look forward to watching it grow and evolve.

Visit ineh-global.org to read about the ways each country represents Esoteric Healing and to connect with their teachers and presenters. One Love. One Life. One Vision."

NAEH Hosts First Membership Kick-Off Party

By Laura Letzler

The NAEH initiated an online Membership Kick-off Party on August 28, 2023 to connect with our members and share “in person” some of the changes and new offerings coming up. The 45-minute gathering started with the NAEH Membership Vision Statement “We envision that the community of NAEH members will be an active force for good in the world. NAEH will have members, from all walks of life, all levels of society and all ages.”

There were 24 people in attendance who learned about the new journal partnership with the INEH, pricing changes for the journals with annual memberships, and an update to the Group Healing work. One of the highlights was the four-minute video prepared by Board member Steve Kramer of clips from various interviews he conducted over the summer with Topping of the evening was the prize drawing! The following attendees were the lucky winners:

NAEH members. The video is very uplifting and impactful. Clips can be seen on the NAEH Facebook and Instagram pages.

Attendees were invited to ask questions of the Board members in attendance. There is strong interest in the higher-level classes (6-8). Bonnie Dysinger shared that she is currently working on a level 6 class. It was asked if the INEH teaches higher-level classes and they do not.

Some of the upcoming events are for NAEH members only or offer discounted pricing for members. Please consider joining or renewing your NAEH membership by October 1 to take advantage of these added membership benefits.

Carolyn Frost closed the evening with a Oneness Blessing. Thanks to those who planned the event and especially to those who attended.

NAEH Monthly Meditations—Powerful, Practical, Inspirational

The NAEH Monthly Meditations continue to take place on the first Tuesday of the month at 5:00 PM Pacific Time, 8:00 Eastern Time. Each month a different meditation leader helps us to “lift up our eyes,” open our hearts and minds, and share our combined “Lighted Energy” with each other and the world. Inspiration, kindness and compassion “happen,” and the group energy makes a difference that is palpable. It feels good to see one another and be together in this way. At the end of each meditation, The Great Invocation we recite contributes to restoring the plan of Love and Light on earth.

All are welcome to attend these meditations, NAEH members and non-members alike. Add the meditations to your calendar! The NAEH sends out an email/reminder about the meditation; feel free to share this with your family and friends who might also enjoy attending.

Finally, we welcome volunteers to lead a meditation. If you feel Spirit nudging you to do this, listen! and please contact Constance McCloy constance.mccloy@gmail.com. All styles and types of meditations are welcome. No need to be shy. 😊
